

1 is 135. Alabama, with 3.3 million people, their senate
2 has 35 members, as opposed to the 67 in Minnesota; their 3 house is 106, with respect to comparison with the 135 in 4 Minnesota.

5 Those are on the medium sized States. Let's take 6 the larger States.

7 Let's take California, where their 40-80 ratio
8 has been in there for a long, long time. California, with 9 15 million opeople, as compared to New York with 16 million
10 people, in California the senate has 40. In New York the 11 Senate has 57 members. In the lower house, the house in 12 California has 80 members in it; and in New York, the lower 13 house has 151 members.

14 Who is to decide what is the right size for 15 what kind of a State? Is it a group of these delegates
16 to this Convention who have studied this proposition for a 17 period no longer than two months? These designations have 18 great consequence.

19 Let's take a look at some of the other States
20 and the changes that have taken effect since the Supreme 21 Court decisions occurring in 1962 and 1964.
